Our Preachersville Correspondent In Hoosierdom.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., Sept. 12.—In fulfillment of our promise to the readers of the "cheapest and best" we will now, after a long delay, tell of some of our experiences among the Hoosiers. We still continue to make new friends and occasionally run across some of our Kentucky friends who are in business in this city. We had the pleasure of seeing our good friend, Eugene Sutton, who is now working insurance for all it is worth. He is partner with J. H. Kennedy in a grocery, and judging from the customers, are doing a thriving business. They are two old Preachersville boys in whom Preachersville is much interested.

We enjoyed a drive through Woodruff Place with Mr. Robert Lafan, who very kindly pointed out the many beauties of this most beautiful city park. The residences fronting on this park are among the finest in the city, each costing $15,000, none of lower price being permitted. Besides this fashionable drive there are dozens of others equally attractive. Statues, fountains and flowers are some of its many ornaments. Riverside and Broad Ripple parks are on White River and afford best facilities for boating and bathing. Street cars run to these parks and people may picnic there and return to their homes far out in the country in time for supper. We enjoyed a visit to the Indiana Statehouse and went through the State museum, which contains many excellent specimens of birds, reptiles and animals, which look very natural, and which speak well for the taxidermist's skill. Next we visited the Indiana insane asylum, where 900 male and 1,150 female patients are taken care of in lavish splendor. This is one of four such institutions in the State and the Legislature has made appropriation for still another.

Indiana State Soldiers' and Sailors' Monument is another of the impressive landmarks of the Hoosier metropolis. Objects more than 10 miles away are plainly visible from the balcony of this towering shaft. It is universally admitted to be the grandest achievement of architectural and sculptural art in the world, designed to perpetuate the heroic epoch of the republic and to commemorate the valor and fortitude of Indiana's soldiers and sailors in the war of the Rebellion and other wars. The monument foundation is 69 by 53 feet and is 30 feet deep; being surrounded by a plaza the diameter of which is 342 feet. The monument is 285 feet from street level to top of statue. The balcony is 228 feet above the ground, is reached by an electric elevator or by a stairway consisting of 32 flights—324 steps. On reaching the balcony, visitors look over a beautiful panorama of Indianapolis and vicinity—a delightful view, not surpassed anywhere. Below the balcony is a bronze astragal bearing the dates, 1861-1865 on the four sides of the shaft, illuminated by electricity. Midway the monument is a second bronze astragal, representing the navy, and further down, a third bronze astragal, emblematic of the army. On the east and west sides of the monument are the two largest groups that have ever been carved out of stone—the one on the east representing war, the other peace. On the south front are two heroic statues, each out of a huge block of stone; one representing infantry, the other an ideal cavalry scout. On the north front are the artillery and navy representatives, same as on the south. On the east and west sides of the terrace are magnificent cascades, over each of which flow 7,000 gallons of water per minute. With eight immense candelabra, carrying 48 arc and 150 incandescent lamps, together with the 500 incandescent lamps, Monument Place is the most brilliantly and beautifully lighted place in this country. Above the entrance facing south is the inscription of dedication: "To Indiana's Silent Victors." This monument was finished in 1894 at a cost of $600,000. To have looked once upon this beautiful monument is to have its picture hung in memory's halls forever. Ere these lines shall have been read we will be again in old Kentucky.

Very truly yours,
B. L. BLANKENSHIP.

Like Finding Money.

Finding health is like finding money—so think those who are sick. When you have a cough, cold, sore throat, or chest irritation, better act promptly like W. C. Barber, of Sandy Level, Va. He says: "I had a terrible chest trouble, caused by smoke and coal dust on my lungs; but, after finding no relief in other remedies, I was cured by Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds." Great relief came from one bottle. Best sale of any cough or lung medicine in the world. At G. L. Penny's drug store, Stanford, and Lyne Bros., of Crab Orchard, 50c and $1; guaranteed. Trial bottle free.

Bobbitt On Happiness, Etc.

CRAB ORCHARD, Sept. 12th.—I desire to describe a real happy domestic life. True happiness is not found in the gilded palatial hall where wealth abounds. Cold formality and frozen pride are found there. The rich, the powerful and the great are seldom happy. 'Tis not in being a great lawyer, a doctor, a statesman, a Congressman, a scientist or a scholar. 'Tis not through ambition, shutting yourself up in some great temple of science, of law, of medicine, of art, and growing ghastly pale and gray by the baleful reflection of a midnight lamp. All these have been tried in vain. Marrying for wealth where there is no reciprocating love is but to shipwreck happiness on a desolate shore. Where there is no love let there be no marriage.

I was asked at Crab Orchard Springs this summer in a large assembly of ladies and gentlemen if I could be induced to marry for money? I answered at once: My heart for gold can not be sold, I know its value better. A princely throne where love's unknown is but a splendid fetter.

(Great applause) I will give our readers a picture of true happiness: A neat log house, a gourd vine climbing the wall, a rude porch covered with boards, the house also covered with boards, no loft to deaden the sound of the falling rain. A dozen hens and feathered, spurred knight whose clarion voice proclaims the hours of the night, one cow, one horse, or better, no horse, one baby, or no baby, a small garden patch, 10 barrels of corn, a little hay sticking out of the stable loft and a small stack of hay or blade fodder on the outside, corn "laid by," dark clouds lowering in the western horizon, the lurid lightning darting its forked spires across its gloomy front, deep-toned thunder rolling across the corduroy pike of the heavens and you inhaling the odor of the frying chickens, listening to the music of the turning coffee mill, and as the big drops of rain begin to fall upon the boarded roof of the cabin, to hear a soft, musical voice in the kitchen-dining room: "Darling supper is ready." And you go in and find your love has put all the best pieces of chicken on your plate. Then after supper is over, if circumstances will permit, sit before a good log fire because the evening is so damp, and sing:

Corn in the little crib, a dollar in the pocket,
Baby in cradle and pretty wife to rock it.

This is true happiness, this is sublimity, this is terrestrial felicity! Why do not I pursue this plan? Because Beuglement (Beuglement) is too large and my two houses in Bobbitt are too fine, one being a white framed house and the other having two brick chimneys and too grand to make our poverty sufficiently splendid!

FONTAINE FOX BOBBITT.

Are You Engaged?

Engaged people should remember, that, after marriage, many quarrels can be avoided, by keeping their digestions in good condition with Electric Bitters. S. A. Brown, of Bennettville, S. C., says: "For years, my wife suffered intensely from dyspepsia, complicated with a torpid liver, until she lost her strength and vigor, and became a mere wreck of her former self. Then she tried Electric Bitters, which helped her at once, and finally made her entirely well. She is now strong and healthy." G. L. Penny, druggist, Stanford, and Lyne Bros., Crab Orchard, sell and guarantee them, at 50c a bottle.

Dresden is one of the few cities possessing a municipal newspaper, and this was bequeathed to the city by the late Dr. Gunt. The bequest is a very valuable property, and consists of a daily newspaper, which, in consequence of its extensive circulation, is the principal advertising medium in the neighborhood. The profits are applied to the beautifying and improvement of the city and to charity.

Attacked by a Mob

And beaten, in a labor riot, until covered with sores, a Chicago street car conductor applied Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and was soon sound and well. "I use it in my family," writes G. J. Welch, of Tekonsha, Mich., "and find it perfect." Simply great for cuts and burns. Only 25c at G. L. Penny's drug store, Stanford, and Lyne Bros., Crab Orchard.

The Young Man—I don't know what to do. I'm 18 and I'm in love with a girl who is 22.
His Father—That's all right. By the time you are 21 she'll just be 20.

KINGSVILLE.

Trainmaster W. M. Tuney and other officials were here Saturday.

A revival begun at Pleasant Point Baptist church Monday evening.

A new side track is being made here, business having become so great.

Born to the wife of Joe Jenkins, a boy, and to the wife of Dave Burton, a girl. Miss Beula Jenkins has been suffering with an attack of tonsillitis.

Mr. D. M. Creighton continues in about the same condition, being confined to his bed and entirely helpless. J. Everard Creighton, who has been working days at Richardson, on the C. & O., is very ill with pneumonia at the C. & O. hospital at Huntington, W. Va.

Dr. Bradford Warren was called to Woodstock Monday evening and Mrs. Warren taught as his substitute Tuesday. Messrs. Watson and Albright, of Elgin, were the guests of Dr. C. M. Thompson Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. John Hart and children, of Tennessee, are guests of relatives here. Your correspondent entertained a few friends at lunch Friday evening in honor of Miss Mamie Robinson and brother, Harry, who returned to their home at Lexington Saturday. S. C. Carter and wife, of Sedalia, Mo., and Mrs. Wm. Peairs and children, of Illinois, are expected soon to visit Mrs. Elizabeth Peairs and Mrs. John McKee, of this place, and other Kentucky relatives.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy Aids Nature.

Medicines that aid nature are always most effectual. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy acts on this plan. It allays the cough, relieves the lungs, aids expectoration, opens the secretions, and aids nature in restoring the system to a healthy condition. It is famous for its cures over a large part of the civilized world. Thousands have testified to its superior excellence. It counteracts any tendency of a cold to result in pneumonia. For sale by all druggists.

MATRIMONIAL.

David Malone committed suicide at Burney, Ind., because his wife had secured a divorce.

Pat McMullin and Miss Gertie Sims, both of the Waynesburg section, were made one yesterday.

The Episcopal synod of Canada decided not to re-marry a divorcee so long as the other member of marriage contract is living.

Ninety years old, six times married, and the father of 44 children is the record of Jacob Kinney, better known as "Major," who applied for and got a license at the Henrico Co., Va., Clerk's office to wed one Ann Green, who is also no novice on the matrimonial sea, and who is 60 years of age. In recent years the old man has been getting feeble and has been supported by his sons. When asked what he meant by getting married again he said: "I need a helpmate."

The public has been on the qui vive for some time in expectancy of the marriage of Mr. W. K. Ransom to Miss Daisy McGuire. This happy event had its consummation last Wednesday evening at the Baptist church. Just as the prayer meeting was being dismissed the bridal party filed into the church, amid the soft strains of the wedding March played by Mrs. Covington. The ceremony was short and impressive, Rev. Forrest Maddox pronouncing the words that made fast the tie that binds. While devoid of ostentation, the wedding was a very pretty one, and congratulations were extended in the heartiest manner to the young and suitably matched couple.—Yurkon, O. T. Sun. The bride is a daughter of Mr. W. S. McGuire, formerly of this place, and is an excellent young woman.

HUBBLE.

As Bro. Tinder is in a protracted meeting at Carlisle, there will be no preaching at Hubble Sunday afternoon.

M. B. Eubanks and R. L. Hubble attended the John D. Harris sale near Richmond. James McKechnie went to Monticello to look after his hay trade in Wayne. Mesdames Lee and J. M. Rankin have returned from a visit to relatives in Pulaski. They took in the Somerset fair while gone.

Frank Miller has returned to his work at Lebanon, Ind., after a delightful visit to his parents and many friends here, who are proud of his success in his new field of work. John Bourne has gone to Lebanon, Ind., to accept a job in a restaurant. Miss Estelle Wilmot has returned to her aunt's at Rochester, Ill. Miss Mary Holtzclaw has returned to her home in Missouri.

T. B. Hammonds, of Casey, will move to the King place about the first of next year. James Shackelford, of Hedgeville, has moved to his new home near Harrodsburg. Ben Kelly will take his place at Hedgeville until Jan. 1 and do all shop work. John Bourne and wife have returned to their home in Illinois after several weeks' stay with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Anderson, of this place.

An insurance adjuster was sent to adjust a loss on a building that had been burned. "How did the fire start?" asked a friend who met him on his homeward trip. "I couldn't say certainly," said the adjuster, "but it struck me that it was the result of friction."

"What do you mean by that?" asked his friend. "Well," said the insurance man, "friction sometimes comes from rubbing a $10,000 policy on a $5,000 house."

A small boy was reciting in a geography class. The teacher was trying to teach him the points of the compass. She explained: "On your right is the South, your left the North, and in front of you is the East. Now, what is behind you?"

The boy studied for a moment, then puckered up his face and bawled: "I knew it. I told ma you'd see that patch in my pants."—Ladies' Home Journal.

Got off cheap.

He may well think, he has got off cheap, who, after having contracted constipation or indigestion, is still able to perfectly restore his health. Nothing will do this but Dr. King's New Life Pills. A quick, pleasant and certain cure for headache, constipation, etc. 25c at G. L. Penny's drug store, Stanford, and Lyne Bros., Crab Orchard; guaranteed.

The trial of James Hargis, Alex. H. Hargis, Elbert Hargis and Ed Callahan, for alleged conspiracy in the murder of James Cockrill, was continued in the Fayette circuit court to await the court of appeals' decision on Judge Parker's conspiracy ruling.

Charged with bigamy and murder, Calvin Young Reed was arrested in Louisville. The detectives think that Reed deserted his wife who had supported him for 18 years and that he poisoned wife No. 2.
